ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

I would like to thank all those without whom the book would not materialize:

The reviewers, Professors R. Duda, K. Maślanka and M. Zarichnyi for insightful comments and suggestions, which contributed to improvement of the text.

Mrs. M. Bečvářova from Prague for the invitation to participate in the seminar “Mathematics in the Austrian-Hungarian Empire” during the XXIII International Congress of History of Science and Technology (Budapest 2009), where the idea of the book was born.

The participants of the seminar group in the history of mathematics from the Copernicus Center for Interdisciplinary Studies and the Department Seminar in the History of Mathematics at the Institute of Mathematics of the Jagiellonian University: the late A. Pelczar, E. Tutaj, W. Wójcik, Z. Pawlikowska-Brożek, Z. Pogoda, D. Ciesielska, for valuable comments.

Mrs. Margaret Stawiska-Friedland from Mathematical Reviews for invaluable assistance in the correction of the English version. Without her experience and determination the text would be much less readable.

My younger son Jakub, a companion in pedestrian Dominican Pilgrimages to Jasna Góra, this year’s high school graduate, now a student of history and philosophy at the Jagiellonian University, for his support and endless conversations about Galicia.
