The Czech SGML User's Group

The Czech SGML User's Group has been initiated with the purpose of being a forum for spreading knowledge and information about the Standard Generalized Markup Language (SGML) and related standards, and to support development that leads to an active use of SGML.

Membership is voluntary and free, by becoming a member you receive the following benefits:

- Member access to the SGML Czech Republic Forum at the WWW.
- Member access to the SGML Czech Republic Conference to be held once a year.
- Join the news mailing list.
- Receive abstracts on recently introduced SGML literature.
- Member access to the Groups FTP server with SGML related tools.
- Member access to the Groups Knowledge database.
- See the work of other colleagues on SGML in this country.

The group is aimed to be a source of information to decision makers in both academic institutions and information system experts that work in diverse industries that due to its nature, require solid, updated systems for Logistics, Workflow, Database management and documentation.

The group organizes the annual SGML Czech Republic Forum. Additional encounters with members can be coordinated through the board.

It is desired that members prepare a paper on their particular activities related to SGML of minimum 300 words of size. To prepare and submit a presentation to the annual Forum is also welcomed.
